

TALK Translation Services

Entrenched in South Africa's constitution is the right of each person to use, read and be spoken to in the language of his/her choice. This places responsibility on companies and organisations to translate policy documents etc. into the various languages of their constituencies.

TALK offers a professional translation service from English into African languages and vice versa, which includes typing, editing and proof-reading the text.

Please contact us for a quote, which will depend on the length and level of complexity of the text.
